

ACE DRUMMER - PERCUSSION STUDIES

---

Charles Benscoter (Ace Drummer – In search of...)
608 Western Ave. Beaver, Pa. 15009

Email: acedrummer01@gmail.com
Web Site: <http://www.acedrummer.com>

What are you searching for? Have you wanted to learn the drums? Do you want to learn about some area of drumming or percussion that has always fascinated you? Does STOMP!, Blue Man Group, Buddy Rich, Ringo Star or Neil Peart make your pulse quicken? Then we need to talk.

My name is Chuck Benscoter – Ace Drummer. Not the flying ace with many victories but the private eye who is always searching for the answers to the mystery that is DRUMS!

I have spent over 40 years searching the world of percussion. I am by no means the final expert, but I have gathered a very large amount of experience and knowledge that I can share. As an active percussionist / drummer you can find me performing in local groups, with our church praise band and for my own personal enjoyment.

As a percussion teacher I focus on rudiments, muscle development, technique and knowledge of the instrument. I use and teach the rudiments as the backbone of percussion. Rudiments are the ABCs of percussion and I believe that without them a drummer is unable to 'speak the language'.

I teach in many areas of percussion including corp-style marching drum lines, modern set drumming, jazz drum set, hand percussion and symphonic percussion.

Lessons - $15.00 per 30 minute lesson. Lessons are held at my home.

---

** My Goal in teaching:

- To develop my students (and myself) into musician/artists worthy of the ancient name 'Drummer'.
- To help integrate the physical motion of playing, the execution of the notes, the style of the music and the creative mind of the student.
- To provide a level of skill and understanding to the student so they can continue the search.